dedication

A dedication to office D, and to the two people who live there, Mr. Thomas Deupree and Mr. Charles Lundholm. Thanks for everything from the class of 1969.

BUC MINSTER FULLER

Mary Owens has served food to Maumee Valley students for well over 40 years—something like 8000 meals to untold thousands of students, faculty, alumni, and visitors. Like few other school employees, Mary is universally referred to by her first name by everyone who knows her—and has been for decades.

In the good old days on School Place with its napkin rings and linen to the tables set up in the lower school gym, to the present upper school dining room, there has always been a Mary.

What the diner sees each day is a product of effort which begins early every morning well before the students arrive to the preparations for the next day's meal. She always makes a special effort to see that everyone's nutritional needs are met. Those who have an aversion to coleslaw are often encouraged to find some other satisfying food in the refrigerators; those who are on diets come away equally satisfied. And as queen of the ice cream sales, Mary has soothed the after school hunger pangs of many of the young and old.

No one person is indispensable in the life of any school. But Mary comes as close as anyone to that ideal. We will sorely miss her bustling manner, green hats and ice cream, gentle brogue, and apple glop dessert.

Our good frie

appreciations

MRS. KARL BRENER
Secretary to Headmaster

Good-Bye to one of Maumee Valley's best friends.

MRS. CLARENCE HOLTFRETER
Upper School Secretary

Thanks for all those little things.

MR. THOMAS DEUPREE

A man said to the universe: "Sir, I exist!" "However," replied the universe, "the fact has not created in me A SENSE OF OBLIGATION."

—Stephen Crane

The Way Sacred,
Perceiving the pathway
to TRUTH
Was struck with ASTONISHMENT.
It was thickly grown with weeds.
"Ha," he said,
"I see that none has passed here
In a long time."
Later he saw that each weed
Was a singular knife.
"Well," he mumbled at last,
"Doubtless there are other ROADS."

Hear the singing of the forest buried 'neath the city's streets.
We were born crying,
We must learn to laugh.
The little cares that fretted me,
I lost them yesterday
Among the fields, above the sea,
Among the winds ot play.

Dislikes: diets, indifferent and pathetic people, studying, and solitude.

And an astronomer said, Master, what of time?
And he answered:
You would measure time the measureless and the immeasurable.
You would adjust your conduct and even direct the course of your spirit according to hours and seasons. Of time you would make a stream upon whose bank you would sit and watch its flowing.
Yet the timeless in you is aware of life's timelessness, and knows that yesterday is but today's memory and tomorrow is today's dream.
And that which sings and contemplates in you is still dwelling within the bounds of that first moment which scattered the stars into space.
Who among you does not feel that his power to love is boundless?
And yet who does not feel that very love though boundless, encompassed within the centre of his being, and moving not from love thought to love thought, nor from love deeds to other love deeds?
And is not time even as love is, undivided and spaceless?
But if in your thought you must measure time into seasons, let each season encircle all the other seasons,
And let today embrace the past with remembrance and the future with longing.

And in the naked light I saw
Ten-thousand people maybe more,
People talking without speaking,
People heoring without listening,
People writing songs that voices never share,
No one dare
Disturb the sounds of silence . . . . .

And the people bowed ond prayed,
To the neon god they made,
And the sign flashed out its warning,
In the words that it was forming,
And the sign said
"The words of the prophets ore written on the subway wall, tenement halls,"
And whispered in the sounds of silence.

Simon and Garfunckel

The sand shifted and slipped freely through the creases of my toes. The little tickle that my foot sensed was the result of a small shell whose jagged edge had been buried beneath the fine powder. The semi-water-saturated-and powdery mixture, packed down by the rough calouses on my heels, was soon undermined by the oncoming waves. Children's skillfully molded masses were demolished, overpowered by the rushing torrents, and afterwards forgotten. A loose grain is blown now by the whimsical wind over its copies, scattered into an alien society, a foreign particle it remains. Maybe an opposing breath will gallantly carry the grain back to its duplicates. Why not?

Then I frolic by again, but this time with a four footed creature; we mark the entire beach, wreaking havoc on the shore. We depart almost as swiftly as we arrived. A calm descends along the darkening land. Night approaches stealthily; the water recedes. Now the water gently laps at the settled sand, bathing some, ignoring some.

The oncoming air is pure and serene, contrasted to the endless sands, attempting to merge its unaccustomed beauty of a soft hue lit by the new moon with the drab dirt; the effect is yet of two objects independent of one another's characteristics. Throughout the night this effect is made more prominent, being sharply illuminated by the persistent radiance of the stars. I watch all from behind a rock jutting at its extremity into the water. I remain mute, not wishing to disturb the pending passiveness pervading. The stars start slowly surrendering the scene to the sun's surging rays. The dawn demands more and more, increasing her size until another day developes.

Again I will traverse the trodden sands leaving my innocently fashioned imprints. Again the shells reveal themselves to my instep while the sea demolishes the reworked castles of labor. An empire unfolds, conceals, and unfolds itself in the everlasting cycle of nature, remaining long after mortal works, marks, and life.

It is a cold winter, away is the songbird
And gone is her traveler, she waits at home.
The sun is on holiday, no leaves on the trees,
The animals sleep while cold north winds blow.
The snowflakes are falling, the roof a white blanket,
There's ice on the window pane, she waits alone . . .
She sits by the fireside, the room is so warm
Her children are sleeping, she waits in their home.

It is a long winter, away is the songbird
She waits for her traveler, so far from home,
She sits by the fireside, the room is so warm,
There's ice on the window, she's lonely alone . . .

HAVE I STAYED TOO LONG AT THE FAIR?

I wanted the music to play on forever
have I stayed too long at the fair?
I wanted the clown to be constantly clever
have I stayed too long at the fair?
I bought me blue ribbons to tie up in my hair but I couldn't find anybody to care
The merry-go-round is beginning to slow now
have I stayed too long at the fair?
there is nothing to win and there's no one to want me
have I stayed too long at the fair?

Its Me
As long as I live
I shall always be Myself—and no other,
Just me.
Like a tree.
Like a willow or elder
An aspen, a thorn

Like a flower

A primrose, a pink,
Or a violet—
Suned by the sun,
And with dew drops wet.

Always just me.

Suzanne takes your hand

The sun pours down like honey on our lady of the harbor as she shows you where to look among the garbage and the flowers, there are heroes in the seaweed
there are children in the morning, they are leaning out for love they will lean that way forever while Suzanne she holds the mirror.
And you want to travel with her and you want to travel blind and you're sure that she can find you because she's touched her perfect body with her mind.

LUCIA ABELLA

You see things as they are;
and you say: Why?
I dream things that never were;
and I say: Why not?

George Bernard Shaw

Lucia came to Maumee Valley in January for her summer vacation from Montevideo, Uruguay, where the seasons are opposite from ours. Unlike most summer vacations, Lucia spent this one in the snow, for the first time. The first day that it snowed after her arrival, she was seen either carrying around a snowball in each hand, or sitting in a drift of snow somewhere.

After completing her summer vacation at Maumee Valley, Lucia plans to return to Montevideo, and attend the University of Montevideo.

Five . . . four . . . three . . . two . . . one . . . bzzzzzt. The game was over and a very important dream was destroyed by Hawken, not only for this year's football team but for thirteen dedicated seniors. Under the direction of coach Nuzum, the Mohawks had pointed since August toward that dream, an undefeated, untied season.

After smashing Detroit Country Day, 20-0, the team, now 6-0, knew the Hawken game would be critical. Always a powerhouse, the Hawks had beaten Maumee Valley for the last 4 years and their starting line-up was back.

But as the game wore on it became increasingly apparent that the Mohawks would be one step closer to realizing their dream. Ahead 8-6, they had limited the Hawken juggernaut to one touchdown, and although the Hawks had the ball, less than a minute remained. Excitment mounted on Maumee Valley's bench.

Hawken scored with fourteen seconds remaining. Dream ended.

Although the Mohawks rebounded to trounce Edon in the final game and finish 7-1, the team will remember the Hawken game. There they experienced in the fullest the unity, pride and comradeship that characterized the year's efforts.

The 1968 M.V. Soccer team produced more goals than any other soccer team in Mohawk history. Led by a strong group of seniors, the team scored 28 goals, breaking the record of 20 goals set in 1965 by Lars Alenius and Company.

Why so many goals? One reason is that the Mohawks shot more this year than before. The team shot more than fifteen times in the Columbus game and came out on top in the scoring column. The coaches would like to see the Mohawks shoot even more next year.

The solid defense coupled with an almost airtight goal enabled the Mohawks to keep a lead once they had it. The value of a defense can be seen in the number of shots it has to its credit. The M.V. defense held the opposition scoreless in five contests, a school record.

The potent offense combined with the solid defense gave the whole team a feeling of confidence, confidence which helped the Mohawks to beat Hawken in Cleveland, a feat not accomplished in years. It is hoped that next year's team will have this same confidence and pride.

wrestling

The Mohawk wrestling team led by the seniors Dave Greenburg, Larry Williams, and Bruce Schafer ended the season with the record of 9-4. At the Park tournament we lost first place by only one point, with Dave Greenburg chosen as the most valuable wrestler. This year's high point man was Tony Valentine with 57 points including 13 wins and only one loss. Mr. Pollock, our new coach, did a fine job. In the Maumee Valley tournament in February, we took third place with Howken first and Grand River second. Our winners were Tony Valentine, 165, and Larry Williams, 175, plus two second places. This year's team was inexperienced but next season's veteran wrestlers should come through with an even better record.

basketball

This year's basketball team was one of the most outstanding in Maumee Valley history in that it produced the most wins ever, sixteen. Although the starting five were the same as last year's, two new factors made the difference: One, graduates from the JV squad provided valuable depth, and two, last season provided experience. Plays, taurnament pressure and each individual's style were more familiar.

One af the most exciting games of the season and one which gave the Mohawks an indication of their potential was the final of the Park Schaol Invitational Tournament aver the Christmas holidays. Down 46-31 at halftime, Maumee Valley came back with a full court press for the entire second half and outscored Park 55-37 to eke out an 86-83 victory.

The finals of the Maumee Valley Invitational in February provided the classic rematch. Park, with a 20-3 record, was favored, and the Mohawks, 14-5, were seeded second. However, the outcome was seldam in doubt. Maumee Valley pressed from the opening tip-off and won going away, 75-66. The potential was realized, and the coaches provided the final reward by placing three Mohawks on the All-Tournament team and naming Paul Berlacher MVP for the second year in a row.

Losing eight of nine starters from last year's team, it will be hard for 1969's team to duplicate last year's winning record. Composed mostly of underclassmen, the team will be centered around junior Pat Lindsey, the only returning starter from last year's team. Playing shortstop as well as being the number one pitcher, Lindsey should also be the teom's best hitter, having batted around .300 last year. Seniors in the club are third baseman Bill Hummer, and outfielders Paul Balber, Larry Williams, and Jerry Avington. Also in the outfield are freshmon Gee Pei, Ozzie Joseph, who also pitches, and sophomore Bob Sullwold, who can also play first base. In the infield are Jerry Kapp, Forest Schafield, and pitcher-shortstop Emery Dorfmeyer. Behind the plate is hard hitting freshman Ricky Roberts.

The team's problems should be lack of experience and depth. Many of the substitutes are freshmen, and only 17 players are out for the sport. However, with good pitching and fielding, a rebuilding year could be a successful one.

At the conclusion of this season, four years of Maumee Volley tennis will came to an end for four seniors, Jeff Kasle, Jeff Smith, Frank Kistler, and Bart Alexander. In the past two years, althaugh the team has had a good recard, we have never been able to campete with the really top teams in the city such as St. Francis ar Ottawa Hills. Part af this can be explained by the tough competitian far student parlicipatian pravided by track and baseball. Only this year did the team manage ta grab Scatt Bigelaw from the clutches of Caach McCoy and share him with the track team. Alsa many promising players have gane ta baarding school.

But these seeming abstacles have been a blessing in disguise for those who would have never learned the game sitting on the sidelines. Prabably the most gratifying develapment, though, far a senior, is the inveterate track and baseball men come out between shot-puts and home runs ta try their hand at tennis. Remember, you can play tennis until you are 50 ar sixty years old, but when you are that age you will never run the 100 in 9.8 ar da the long jump in 21 feet; right Mr. McCoy?

A two week vacation, many missed practices, and poor weather conditions took their toll when Maumee Valley began its track season with a second place at Northwood. Winning over Eastwood with 51 points and losing to Northwood with 59 points, Maumee Valley's skeleton crew (assembled on the bus) managed 52 points.

Our strength, unlike last year, seems to be in the field events. The long jump was our leading field scorer, with Tom Easley in first place and first year Trevor Johnson with a solid second place. Dave Greenberg's great shot put of last year showed up again this year as he grabbed a first with Mike Lobert close behind in third. In the high jump, Tom Easley, with a third place, had the edge over Paul Berlacher, fourth place, with fewer misses. Finishing the field events was first year Stu Kenworthy capturing third place in the discus. Mark Greenfield, our top discus thrower, is out with a sprained ankle, but substitute Dave Greenberg shows great potential.

The question of whether or not Coach McCoy could fill the shoes of Mike MacAdams and Eric Bressler was finally answered when Tony Valentine and Roddy Bolden finished the 100 yd. dash, one, two, respectively. In the 880 relay Jim Thampson took the lead and Jim Rice lengthened it with Roddy Bolden and Tony Valentine keeping the lead to come in first place.

The distance events were thin as first year Kris Johnson (mile) and Mike Steinberg (half-mile) both came in third place. Greg Kuehnle ran a fast 440 coming in fourth place.

Coach McCoy feels that the track team has great potential and when this becomes fully developed Maumee Valley will have an almost unbeatable team.

freshman basketball

The freshman Basketball team, coached by Ken Hoffman, finished the season with a record of 3-4. Although the record does not show it, the team was quite good. All the teams that they played were tough, and they never lost by much. They played teams such as Ottawa Hills, Otsego, Woodmore, and Lake Ridge. Two games were played with each school. Maumee Valley split the games with Ottawa Hills, beating them for the first time in Maumee Valley history.

The scoring touch of the team was given by Mike Zerner and Ozzie Joseph. The floor captain was the little man, Jeff Welles. Rebounding power was given by Pete Brown and Carter MacNichol.

The team has quite a strong bench including Bob Gossman, Paul Joseph, and Phil Bambino. The team looks forward to playing together again next year, as a Junior Varsity team.

middle school sports

Cal Magruder, Chuck Lundholm, and Ron Euton combined as coaches to do a fine job with the middle school athletic program this year.

The soccer team accumulated a 1-3-2 record, defeating Lake Ridge once and tying Perrysburg twice. Coach Magruder did a great job with the available personnel.

Despite an 0-5 record, the middle school football players gained valuable experience and fundamental knowledge through the hard work of Coach Lundholm, and the help of Coach Deupree. Eddie Joseph and Eric Witte led the way on offense, while Bill Boeschenstein did an outstanding job on defense.

Our basketball team, to the displeasure of all, turned out to be somewhat of a disappointment. Mr. Lundholm, a very inspiring personality, was sometimes doubtful that we were doing our best. We ended the year with a 5-6 record, with the Evergreen (Fulton) tournament championship.

This spring, Coach Magruder and Euton will brave the task of coaching the baseball and track teams, respectively. A couple of new comers to middle school baseball, Pete Carroll and Eric Coffman, have proven to be bright spots. The loss of "stars" Marc Meister and Bob Berlacher doesn't seem to be bothering the track squad. With Lance Thompson, John Mason, and Eric Witte, middle school track is looking for a good season.

Reddy Says: We Want People to "Get Ahead"

Today's classrooms furnish knowledge that will help in tomorrow's world. That's why Toledo Edison urges employees to improve their skills, abilities and mental growth through company-sponsored education and training programs such as:

EDUCATION ASSISTANCE PLANS
ADVANCED MANAGEMENT COURSES
FOREMANSHIP CLASSES
SPECIAL ON THE JOB TRAINING AND STUDY

But, we also encourage other people to continue their education so they can qualify for increasingly important jobs such as those at Toledo Edison.

If you're curious about Fiberglas* just ask a quarterback. Or a racing driver. Or a professional golfer. Or a marine engineer. Or practically anybody. We figure about 30,000 better ways have been found to use Fiberglas products and materials to replace steel, wood, aluminum or cloth. If you want to help find better uses for Fiberglas, and have a challenging career, keep us in mind.
